Sands's Sarsarantia.—Light is the most important, the most sensible and striking phenomenon of the Universe. It affords the means of exalted and exquisite pleasures, and is the source from which man derives the largest proportion of valuable knowledge. When decomposed it is found to consist of the seven primary colors, thus proving the Sun the source frem whence it comes to be the grand painter of creation. As light is to the physical world, so is health to the physical frame. Remove the one and all is blind; take away the other, and man withers are he blooms. As the genial rays of the Sun infuse warmth and renewed vigor into the veretable creation, so Sands's Sarsaparilla tafuses strength into the weak and languid frame. Daily experience shows results the most pleasurg and unlooked for, thus gladdening the hearts of thousands who had given up in despair. Cures are recorded calculated to satisfy the most incredulous, and as 'facts are stabborn things,' they have only to be mentioned. Chronic derangements, cutameous cruptions, impurities of the blood, &c. are perfectly cured by its use.

For conclusive evidence of its superior value and efficacy, see certificates published in this and other city papers.

The and yet so strengely overlooked by those who arrogate to themselves the title of the Political Economists in our day, and who resolve all Political Economic Science into doing nothing-of whose universe Somnus is God-and who elevate the maxim of the counter, 'Buy where you can cheapest' to the summit of attainable wisdom and statesmanship. In their eyes the cheapest possible production-coin being the unerting standard—is the great end of human effort; and he who is outstripped in the headlong race is doomed to ruin competition, which they blasphemously represent as the order of Providence! These are the views put forth by the Political Economists enthroned in our Colleges and Senates, as liberal and enlightened !- at least, these are the inevitable results from those views. It was needed that the sp-cious fallacies put forth by these teachers should be scrutinized and confuted, and this has been done in a masterly manner by Mr. Atkinson. As an elementary treatise on Political Ecoa-

IRELAND! IRELAND!

SECOND EDITION.

A MEMOIR ON IRELAND, NATIVE AND SAXON.
BY DANIEL OF ONNELL, M. P.
With a Likeness of the Author. Price 25 Cents.

This is a most extraordinary book, and will, doubtless, produce a most profound impression. We talk not of what may be called the Reading Public, nor even the masses in Ireland, for whom, no doubt, a cheaper edition will be prepared, with a view to general circulation. The impression we speak of is that which must be felt by Statesmen—by Sir Robert Peel, by Lord John Russell, by M. Guizzof and M. Thiers. That the volume will have an European and an American circulation, may be taken, considering the Author and the subject, as a matter of course. Next week, if not already published, it will be printed in English at Paris and at Brusseis, and in a month there will be a translation, perhaps, too, into French. We cannot doubt that German versions will appear in Bertin, Dresden, and in Junich: for the King of Bavaria, though a Legitimist, is a thorough Catholic. It will pass the Alesstoo, and "the English in Italy" will have the satisfaction of reading O'Connell's History of Ireland in "choice Italian." We should not be surprised if the Emperor of Russia would command a Sciavorian translation, if only to show the Poles that there have been more horrid, more persevering, and more bloody persecutors of the Catholic Church than he has been. This, then, is a book universal; it will be read by all men, and in all literary languages, in the course of twelve months.

"O'Connell traces the Political History of Ireland from the first partial establishment of English domaination in 112. The picture will, at heat, in many of its features cause the blood to course more rapidly through the veins of Irinhume, Many of the dectals are thrillingly interesting." [Plails, Lanuirer.

Dr. Jayne's Expectorant can be readily procured in any part of the United States, and the experience and voluntary testimony of thousands, the results of chemical analysis, and the decisions of professional men who stand in the first rask of medical science, all point it out as the best preparation ever invented by man, for the cure of all diseases of the lungs, chest, wind-pipe, and other organs connected with the process of respi ation.
